SHERIDAN'S CONDITION UNCHANGED. WASHINGTON, May 27 -At 5:15 p. m. t was learned at General Sheridan's resitence that all the physicians except Dr. O'Rielly had left the house. Dr. O'Reilly could not leave the sick room but sent out the following message: "The General is sleeping quietly. His condition remains unchanged."

DOCTORS LESS HOPEFUL. WASHINGTON, May 27 .- General Sheridan is not so strong nor as well this evening as he was early this morning. There has been no recurrence of heart trouble, but all the efforts of the physiclans to rally him from the attack of yesterday afternoon have proven unavailing.

SHERIDAN CANNOT LIVE. WASHINGTON, May 27, 11:80 p. m. All hope has been abandoned, and it is not believed General Sheridan can live another twenty-four hours.

STANFORD'S UNIVERSITY. Washington, May 27 - Just before Senator Stanford left the city for Europe he expressed himself as follows with reinstitution are set forth in the articles of endowment, but there is, of course, an object not set forth in them. To this institute I desire students shall be made to appreciate evil consequences There are probably in California to-day more adult men engaged in selling distilled liquors than are engaged in tilling the soil, and I am satisfied, taking the country at large, that with the waste of time of the numbers of people engaged in the selling, and the waste consequent by consumers, there is a loss to the country in general fully equal to 25 percent of the power of production. I want the education of students to be such as shall give them a realizing sense of the im-portance of temperance. I desire every student to have an opportunity to praclically learn how to cultivate the soil for spects the finest edifice of its kind in the city, and in its appointments and furnishings first-class. Centrally located and convenient to street cars.

I want in this school that our sex shall have equal advantages with the other and I want particularly that females shall have open to them every employment sultable to their sex.

I believe by doing so that they will be believe by doing so that they will be Chas. H. Nix & Co., Proprietors, stronger physically and mentally and better fixed for wives and mothers, and I believe that if the avocations of life are thrown open to them without their engaging in anything unsuitable to their sex, they can add another 25 per cent. to the powers of production of the country, and this will go far toward real-izing the pessibility of giving comfort izing the possibility of giving comfort and elegance to all orphans. As I desire this institution to deal particularly with the welfare of the masses it will be open to the poor as well as the rich, and the price of tuition will be so moderate as to be within the reach of most all. The few very rich people can get their education anywhere. They are welcome to this institution if they vill come, but the object is more particularly to reach the multitude and the people who have to consider the expenditure of every dollar. The hope is to care even for orphans. They may be sent there, provided for comfortably, and will be booked after. Free scholarships will be provided for meritorious young people who are unable to pay for their education, and such students will be given an opportunity to earn money to help them through their collegiate course. There will be a ma-chine shop and a department to encourage inventions. Religious teachings will be provided for, but sectarianism will be rohibited

A TUSSEL IN THE COLORADO.

A Colored Convert Assaults the Pronoker Assistant while Being Baptized,

Special to the Garette ed in Omaha for wearing Mother Hubbard AUSTIN, TEX., May 27 .- This afternoon dresses. Some people may think this is near the city, to witness the baptism of a number of converts in the colored Baptist Church. A hymn was sung and the preacher waded out on the rocky bottom of the river till about waist deep. He had an assistant, a tall, powerful man who stood in the about 1000 spectators, mostly colored, a new idea with the police of this city, but it isn't. The first crusade in this country against the Mother Hubbard was started some years ago by Tom Cummings, who was then city marshal of Omaha. Tom thought that style of dress was improper for street wear, and he ac-condingly made a wholesale raid on all had an assistant, a tall, powerful man, who stood in the water and helped dip the converts. The men came down into the river in dark trousers, white shirts and their heads tied up in white cloth. The progression is carried on by moving from first convert dipped was a medium-sized women who appeared in them on the streets. Tom Cummings thus acquired a national fame, for his course was soon

The elder backed in the water till he saw it was no use, when he closed with his assailant and the two tusseled around n the river in regular fisticuff style till the water was fairly churned up. Finally the assistant got the better of the convert, and seizing him by the waist, dragged him ashore. The baptism of the rest of the converts then proceeded quietly. While the tussle was in progress a shout went up from the spectators on the bank.

LOOMING PROTECTIONISTS.

Action of the Amalgam sted Association of Iron and Steel Workers.

NEW YORK, May 27 .- The Tribune says: The Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers of the United States has joined the American Protective Tariff League. William Martin, secretary of the association, has sent Griswold, the treasurer of the league, $100 as an en-trance fee. Joseph D. Weeks, general secretary of the league, regards this action of the association as most signifiant and thinks that it is the first time in the history of protection that a labor union has officially connected itself with a tariff organization and that it indicates united action on the part of the workmen and manufacturers which can have but one result, namely, the complete ascendency of the doctrine of protection to American labor and American industry.

The only one who did not laugh was the Privy Councilor Von Houglin, the famous African traveler, and excepting Brehm, the most celebrated authority of our time on the birds of Africa." On asking his opinion he remarked, 'Let others laugh, they know nothing about it. I do not laugh, for the thing is well known to me. I should have made mention of it in my work if I had had any personal proof to justify it. I consider the case proba-

The State of the Appropriation Bills Does Not Compare Well with the Record of Previous Years.

CONGRESSIONAL PROGNOSTICATION.

WASHINGTON, May 27 .- The bills for the admission of North Dakota, Montana and Washington territory are the special orders on the Senate calendar for the coming week. The ladian appropriation bill will probably be called up Monday or Tuesday and will consume a day or more, and the river and harbor bill which will be reported to-morr: w may be called up terest and promises to dis-place special orders and all other business except appropriation billsjuntil it is acted on. The course of events, however, depends largely upon the action of the Democrats in the cauhave the power to delay action in leftnitely upon the motion to consider the treaty with open doors, which is the pending question, but actual filibustering though so long threatened has not begun. There are other matters of executive business of great importance before the Senate or its committee, in respect to which the Democrats desire early action. Among them is the nomination of Mr. Fuller to be Chief Justice, and all of these must probably be delayed as a consequence of any dilaand tory movements in connection with the motion to take up the fisheries treaty. The belief is expressed by senators of both parties that at the next secret session a vote will be reached and that the Damocrats will content themselves with voting in the negative. They will thus help make a quorum and will allow majority to be responsible admitting the public to hear for the discussion. Should all this take place, however, it will still re-main in the power of any two Senators under the rule which is applicable to leg-and close the doors at will. The rule has been worked in recent years only to summarily shut off some Senator who wished to have an open vote on a proposition to admit the public to executive sessions, and it seems to have been invented for use in just such cases; but it is well adapted to other uses, and inasmuch as a strong minority of the Senators are bitterly opposed to the present proposed innovation it is apprehended that its use may become during the fish-ry debate. Only one exccative session with open doors can be recalled by mea whose proceedings memory covers the proceedings of the Senate for a period of more than
